on board was waiting the appearance of the Destroyer on her trial trip.

The party has been signalling with kites and is evidently experimenting. As far as could be observed from shore the kite-flying trial was not quite a success, and did not last long. The kite made some trouble in ascending, and did not rise very high. It was a six-cornered one, about five feet broad, suided by two strings, and having a tail of 50 feet rope attached. When taken down it fell into the water along-side the tug. The boat then headed into the bay.

Mr. Hershfeld, of the law firm of Horwitz & Hershfeld, attorneys for the firm, said this morning that there was not the "Barney" has been one of the loudest to slightest ground for supposing that the money which had been cabled over to London had been misapplied, or that it could have prevented the failure of the London house, through which Abe Stein & Co. did its business.

The money was not sufficient to meet the drafts, which had been stopped as soon as the suspension of Jacob Stein & Co. had been announced, and no one here knew exactly the amount of the drafts which Mr. Stein, the senior partner, had had accepted for the ilrm and its various branches.

The engine ploughed its way through the caboose and four of the cars ahead, maily landing in the principal street of the town, which runs parallel with the rational.

The stove in the caboose set fire to the wreck, and in a short time the flames communicated to the dwelling had accepted for the ilrm and its various branches.

which Mr. Stein, the senior partner, had had accepted for the firm and its various branches.

The result was that the drafts had to go to protest, and the firm here was so much involved that a receivership was necessary in order to get its affairs out of the snari into which they had been precipitated.

Mr. Hershfeld added that so far as the investigation of the accounts had gone, it had been found that the largest creditors of the firm were amply secured, and there was very little doubt that the business would be resumed when matters had been straightened out.

In connection with the failure Justice Beach, in Supreme Court Chambers, today granted the Gorman Hank, of London limited, the British Bank of South America, and the London and River Plate Bank (limited), injunctions restraining any members of the firm of Abe Stein & Co., or its receiver, David Wile, from disposing of goods.

Ine injunction further restrains them from collecting or paying or intermingling the proceeds with other funds of the concern.

His counsel is Daniel P. Hays, of the business, estimated doing an enormous business, estimated at not less than $5.000,000 a year.

The receiver was appointed by Judge Bookstaver, of the Court of Common Pleas, upon the application of William H. Hildreth, who, with Mr. Stein, was a general partner; Isaac P. T. Edmands, of Boston, and Edwin S. Burrett, of Congeneral partner; Isaac P. T. Edmands, of Boston, and Edwin S. Barrett, of Concord, N. H., being special at $50,000 each. Mr. Stein, the head of the firm, has been in Europe for several months, but he sailed to-day from Liverpool for this city. Mr. Hildreth, who was in Boston yesterday, is expecied here to-day. The exact state of the firm's affairs could not be learned to-day. Receiver Wile said it would take him several days to go over the books before he could give even approximate figures. It is estimated, however, that the liabilities are in the neighborhood of $1,000,000, while the assets are believed to be inrigely in excess of this amount, especially if they can be husbanded, and not sacrificed.

Two recent failures in Philadephia, of John J. McConnell and Charles Illingsworth, also involved Abe Stein & Co. to the extent of $65,000, and these, together with the London failure, precipitated the crash.

with the London failure, precipitates the crash.

Mr. Wite said this morning: "It is utterly impossible to any anything at the present time. We are working at the books, and are loging no time to bring order out of chaos.

"It will be several days at least before I shall issue a statement of the firm's affairs. Mr. Stein went to Europe about three months ago, as he does every year, and he will return at once to help adjust the firm's affairs."
